WHAT WE DO

Three2Six, which was created in 2008, is a Johannesburg-based bridging education project for primary school refugee and migrant children who cannot access state schooling in South Africa. Our goal is to support them to integrate into a public school.

We provide the following to our learners:

- Quality education. They are given strong foundations in subjects such as English, Mathematics and Life Skills every weekday, and enjoy extramural activities such as judo, Ipad classes and outings.
- All necessary educational material, including textbooks, stationery and uniforms.
- A healthy meal and snack a day.
- Safe transport to and from school.

These services are provided free as the families we support come from impoverished communities and cannot afford them without assistance.

The project also provides employment and professional development for its refugee teachers who struggle to find employment in South Africa.

REFUGEE TEACHERS EMPLOYED

FROM OUR ALUMNI

“ I was unable to enroll at a public school due to using an asylum document, private schools were not an option as my parents could not afford them. Whilst children my age were receiving education, I was uncertain of my future. Thankfully, I received a “lifeline”, in the Three2Six refugee project.”

22 year-old Paul, a past learner from 2008, who is studying to become an architect.

“ Three2Six took us in and they recognized us as children that were in need of education. Three2Six has opened doors for me.”

22 year-old Randy, one of the first project learners, who is now studying to become a teacher.

“ The 4 years I passed in the Project have made me the person I am today. It has been the greatest step I have made in my life and the foundation of my education process.”

22 year-old Divine, a past learner from 2008, who graduated from university and interns in the communications field.

“ Under the project one was provided with love and care, and a nicely cooked meal for the day to say “I love you”. One would say they were proudly protected and taken good care of not only physically but mentally, emotionally and spiritually.”

Flavie, 19 years old, who recently graduated from high school and is now working.
